

I am concerned about the new proposal that will potentially remove Airl and KLove from my local radio broadcast. Those are both satellite Christian radio stations that can be heard in my listening area. I depend on these stations every day. They serve our local community well, as it is such a small area that could not support a Christian radio station of that caliber otherwise. There are just no other choices in my area. It is definately in the public's best interest to continue to broadcast these stations. Have you heard the alternatives? Try listening to the top-40 stations. I am only thirty years old, and the content of the songs and what is permitted on the airwaves today is appalling (talk of sexual acts, violence, and any immoral subject you can imagine). Young kids are bombarded with those things every day--how can they not make the wrong choices? That's where Airl comes in: cool music with a positive message. Please don't take these stations away. Thank you for your time.
Sincerely,
Jenny Putnam
